KRMCA will be holding a pervious concrete certification course on May 27th, 2009 at McD Enterprises in Alexandria, Kentucky.

With the new interest in storm water applications and procedures, the design community is specifying more pervious concrete. In that specification, they are requiring that the contractor be certified in placing pervious concrete. This class will prepare you to be one of those installers.

These classes are only offered periodically so this is your opportunity to get certified.

This is an National Ready Mixed Concrete Association (NRMCA). Certification that is accepted in all states.

With this new opportunity to expand your business, get certified on the 27th and begin to reap the benefits of being pervious certified contractor.
